FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Biodex Medical Systems, Inc. releases upgraded website dedicated to the senior living community

August 26, 2015, Shirley NY – Biodex is proud to announce the release of its updated senior website. The site, with a fresh new look, was developed as a resource for skilled nursing facilities caring for post-acute rehab patients as well as older adult residents. Beyond product information, there is now a focus on specific applications such as fall risk screening and conditioning, post-acute and orthopedic, neurologic impairments and wellness, all important for the senior population.

The goal was to develop an informative site providing facilities with the tools they need to help accelerate rehabilitation, improve outcomes and reduce readmission. Visitors to the site can learn how to make their facilities more attractive to ACOs, hospitals, physicians, the community, residents and their families through the incorporation of new programs and applications.

Another feature of the site is the availability of case studies, videos, and news stories exemplifying how retirement communities are making themselves stand out with comprehensive, well-managed rehabilitation and wellness strategies.
